A. B. AYLESWORTH TO ENTER CABINET

WILL BE THE NEW POSTMASTER-GENERAL

Sir W. Mulock to Be Chief Justice of New Exchequer Court Division in Toronto.

(Special to the Times.)

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—Sir William Mulock will be appointed Chief Justice of the new Exchequer court division in Toronto. A. B. Aylesworth will run in North York. He will not only get Sir William's constituency but his department. The new minister will become postmaster-general.

Allen Bristol Aylesworth, K.C., was born at Newburgh, Ont., November 27th, 1854, and was educated at Newburgh high school and at Toronto university (B.A. and Prince's prize, 1879). He was called to the bar in 1878. Created a K.C. by the Ontario government in 1880, he received a similar distinction from the Earl of Derby, Governor-General of Canada, 1890. He is also a member of the Law Society of Upper Canada and a senator of Toronto University. He married in 1878 Adelaide Augusta, daughter of C. H. Miller. Mr. Aylesworth was appointed commissioner for the Alaskan boundary in succession to the late Mr. Justice Armour.

LOST FIRST LAW SUIT.

Crown Prince of Germany Sought to Recover Taxes Which He Paid Under Protest.

Berlin, Oct. 12.—The Crown Prince has had his first lawsuit and lost it, greatly to his annoyance.

He owns a valuable estate near the town of Oels, which he inherited from his grandfather, the late Kaiser Frederick, and some time ago a tax collector presented him with a bill for $1,250, which he at first refused to pay, claiming that as a member of the imperial family he was exempt from all taxes. He finally paid under protest and brought an action against the town. The court, however, decided that although the law exempts members of the Kaiser's family from paying state taxes, it does not apply to provinces, cities and towns, which are privileged to make their own laws concerning local taxes, and the hope of the young prince of recovering his money has vanished.

MOTOR BOOTS.

New Method of Locomotion Discovered by Geneva Engineer.

Geneva, Oct. 12.—The Basler Nachrichten is authority for the statement that a clever young engineer has succeeded in manufacturing a pair of motor boots.

The new invention, which has been tried with the greatest success, consists of a pair of stout boots, each of which is nothing more or less than a miniature motor car mounted on four wheels of about a foot in diameter. The two feet work independently of each other, and should one motor boot break down the other will carry the traveller along without difficulty. The boots are exceptionally light, compact and strong, working by petrol on a new plan, which the inventor keeps secret.

It is claimed that an ordinary pedestrian can travel all day over average country roads at a pace of twelve miles an hour without experiencing the least fatigue. The motor boots can be started or stopped in an instant by a spring attached to the belt of the traveller.

FOR HATLESS GUESTS.

German Ingenuity Finds a Solution For the Difficulty.

Berlin, Oct. 12.—Several large restaurants in Germany have introduced a new feature, which has met with great success by mistake or otherwise the hat of a customer is taken away by another guest a new hat is provided for him by the management on his depositing four shillings. He may select from a considerable stock of all sizes. If by chance the guest's own hat is returned to him he will receive his four shillings back on returning the borrowed hat.

A MYSTERIOUS CASE.

Young Lady Attempts to Take Her Own Life in Paris.

Paris, Oct. 12.—Mystery surrounds the motives of a suicide which has taken place in a house situated in a busy district of this city. The heroine of this gruesome adventure is a young and very pretty artist who is said to be or to have been until recently on particularly friendly terms with a person connected with one of the many music halls.

It appears that about a fortnight ago she moved into the flat which has since been the scene of the tragedy, but that on the following morning she started on a visit to the theatre in company with the person referred to. An evening or two ago the young woman returned to her abode without having given any intimation of her intentions. She was quite alone, and when the porter offered to take her luggage upstairs for her she declined, explaining that this was unnecessary. Leaving the man at the door she rushed up to her apartment. A few minutes later the report of firearms was heard. The girl had shot herself in the region of the heart, and had been ever since in a very dangerous condition. No light has since been thrown on the drama, about which an unusual amount of rumour is being maintained.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 12.—With the mercury going to 58 at New Orleans last night and under 40 in many other places, and with frosts in the middle section of the state, the probability of the early extinction of the yellow fever throughout Louisiana and Mississippi is increased. ## MINISTER IN FAVOR OF PROTECTORATE

WOULD AID JAPANESE
PROJECTS IN KOREA

M. Hayashi Will Go to Tokio to Consult Government and Elder Statesmen.

(Associated Press.)

Seoul, Oct. 12.—Japanese Minister Hayashi started for Tokio to-day for the purpose of consulting the government and elder statesmen. Minister Hayashi recently commended the declaration of a Japanese protectorate over Korea as the only means of making effectual Japanese projects in Korea. It is probable that the coming conference will definitely decide the political status of Korea.

The Japanese are anxious to obtain a hold on affairs before the return of the representative of Russia and the impending conference, and together with the absence of British and Italian ministers on a vacation encourage the local Japanese to believe that eventually all the foreign legations will be withdrawn from Seoul, and that the diplomatic business of Korea will be handled altogether in Tokio.

The Emperor and court officials are much worried over the present turn of affairs, more especially as they cling to their national representation abroad and to the residence of foreign ministers at Seoul as the last vestige of their vanishing independence.

Will Be Decorated.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 12.—H. V. Denison, the legal adviser of the Japanese war office, is to receive high decoration from the Emperor for his services at the Portsmouth peace conference. This is the statement made to a Post-Intelligencer correspondent by Shaw T. Hishimura, who is on his way from Tokio to Montreal, Quebec, where he represents the Japanese Central Tea Traders Association.

COLLINS READY TO SURRENDER

ADVISES AUTHORITIES OF HIS WILLINGNESS

Asks For An Order to Be Forwarded to Victoria—Department Will Take No Action

(Special to the Times.)

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—Alexander Smith, of Smith & Johnston, had an interview to-day with the justice department in regard to the case of Geo. D. Collins, who is held for extradition. Collins waives further proceedings and says that he will return to California. He asks for an order to surrender, to be forwarded by the department to Victoria.

The department refuse to be a party to any consent proceedings.

The act provides that the fugitive can only be surrendered fifteen days after commitment. If the fugitive wishes to leave of his own accord, then the department has nothing to say. A consent order is no more binding than the consent of the fugitive to leave. Officers acting under such orders do so at their own peril.

Geo. D. Collins when seen to-day with reference to the application made to the department of justice at Ottawa, explained that he did not intend to waive extradition.

The application he made to Ottawa was to issue the warrant of delivery which would be necessary should the Supreme court decide against him at the habeas corpus proceedings on November 1st. Were this not done there would be a delay of about two weeks after the decision was given before the warrant could issue.

Mr. Collins says his business interests in San Francisco are suffering from his absence. He requires to get back, and in the present condition of his case in the court of California his acquittal is almost a certainty. He does not want to stay here two weeks after the decision of the court on November 1st if that is against him.

If the department at Ottawa does not see its way clear to issue the warrant pending the decision Mr. Collins says he has no intention of staying here until November.

He will waive the habeas corpus proceedings now pending and allow of a warrant of delivery to issue on the decision given by Mr. Justice Duff.

The necessary two weeks or 15 days which would be necessary under the act of Mr. Justice Duff has long since elapsed, and acting on a telegram from here the Ottawa authorities could mail a warrant of delivery taking less than a week's time. Mr. Collins would then return to San Francisco.

THE CZAR'S THANKS.

Receipt in Which Emperor Nicholas Pays Tribute to Count Witte, Russian Peace Envoy.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 11.—The Imperial receipt, in which the Czar again thanks Count Witte for the services he rendered in the conclusion of peace with Japan, follows:

"Count Sergei Iulievitch: In my unceasing and arduous work, you have shown a friendly offer of the president of the United States for a meeting of the Russo-Japanese plenipotentiaries in order to put an end to all the sorrows and terrible consequences of the long continued war, and you have succeeded in this. My choice fell on you to go to the United States as my plenipotentiary, and in case the Japanese proposals were acceptable to enter into peace negotiations, you have most brilliantly and successfully performed your task, acting as a worthy representative of Russia. Insisting on the impossibility of accepting conditions wounding the patriotism or conscience of the Russian people and without impairing the interests of your country you have obtained rightful concessions, rejecting though with all due acknowledgment of the successes of the enemy, the payment in any form whatever of the expenses of a war not commenced by Russia, and only consenting to return to Japan the southern part of the island belonging to her up to 1875. Thus an all advantageous peace was obtained."

"Highly appreciating the ability and statesmanlike experience you have shown, and as a grateful recognition of your great and highly important services to the fatherland, I grant you the rank of count of the Russian Empire."

"I remain your well disposed and highly grateful."

(Signed) "NICHOLAS."

GRANTED DEGREE.

(Special to the Times.)

Vancouver, Oct. 12.—Three students of the Columbian Methodist college, New Westminster, have been granted B. A. degrees at Toronto University. The students are M. C. Brown, a son of J. C. Brown; John Robinson, daughter of Charles Robinson; and W. L. Hall, of Cumberland, Vancouver Island.

Experts calculate that Irish boys are capable of turning out 50,000,000 tons of fuel a year for 1,000 years, and if this were sold it would bring in $9,000,000 a year.

CHINESE ARMY. Manoeuvres This Week—Troops Urged to Avoid Making Themselves a Laughing Stock.

(Associated Press.)

Peking, Oct. 12.—An Imperial edict has been issued establishing a new board dealing with military matters, which have hitherto been left in the hands of local officials of various provinces. They will henceforth be regulated from a central department.

Much curiosity is felt regarding the forthcoming Chinese military manoeuvres. These will be conducted in the neighborhood of Pootung, and will continue from October 23rd to October 28th. They will be held on entirely modern lines, and upwards of 40,000 men of all arms will be in line. The manoeuvres will be the first of the kind ever held in China.

Yuan Shi K'i, the commander-in-chief of the Chinese army, has issued a proclamation urging the troops to do their best and avoid making themselves a laughing stock in the eyes of foreigners.

THE GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC RAILWAY

ENCOURAGING REPORT
BY SIR C. RIVERS-WILSON

Work at the Eastern Division of Road
Will Be Commenced Immediately.

(Associated Press.)

London, Oct. 12.—At the semi-annual meeting of the shareholders of the Grand Trunk railway of Canada to-day the report of the board of directors was unanimously adopted.

The president, Sir Chas. Rivers-Wilson, spoke most encouragingly of the prospects, particularly in respect to the Pacific extension of the Grand Trunk. He said he had the assurance of the Canadian government that they would commence work on the eastern division immediately and complete the system from Winnipeg eastward to the junction with the Port William branch simultaneously with the completion of that branch.

The president also gave details of terminals secured at Port William and a point on the Pacific coast, twenty-five miles south of Port Simpson.

FROM PHILADELPHIA.

Representatives to the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows Return Home.

F. Davey, one of the three grand lodge representatives from British Columbia attending sovereign grand lodge meetings of Odd Fellows in Philadelphia last month, has returned home. He was accompanied on his trip by Miss Davey, his eldest daughter, and after the big meeting of Odd Fellows set out on a tour of the eastern part of the United States and Canada. In some of the larger places visited he was much impressed with the new found enthusiasm of the people to take in the sights of the cities. Automobiles with a capacity for 40 or 50 people are available on every road, and for $1 a passenger may see more sights and acquire more knowledge regarding a place than he could in other ways in several days. The seats are arranged on a slope. In front a man is posted, who calls out all points of interest as the vehicle passes along, while before the start a photographer is on hand who takes a picture of the entire company, and in which the remarkable car is included. After this fashion Mr. and Miss Davey enjoyed the sights of New York, taking in all they desired to see in a little over a day.

As an old resident of Victoria, Mr. Davey returned the remarkable car to the streets here and in other cities where the boulevard is in evidence, and where the fence, not to speak of the high boarded one, has long since been abolished. The contrast impressed upon him the conviction that it is quite time that an improvement in this regard be carried out in Victoria.

Speaking of the meeting which he attended and which lasted five days, or from the 15th to the 23rd, Mr. Davey said that the reports received showed the order to be in a very prosperous condition. The growth of the society during the past year was 47,000. One of the important changes in the constitution decided on was extending the powers of the grand sire to enable him to decide on questions which might arise in connection with the constitution of the state jurisdiction. There were a large number of amendments proposed, but few were agreed on, and a great many were deferred.

When it came to the selection of a place for the meeting next year a vote was given unanimously in favor of Toronto. New York, Richmond, Denver and Chicago were mentioned in the first ballot, but as soon as Toronto was suggested, representatives from all parts gave way in favor of the Canadian city. There were 250 delegates in attendance at the meeting.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Harleburg, Oct. 12.—Just after giving his testimony in a legal case of minor importance before a justice of the peace at Elkwood last night, Levi Brandt died of heart failure in his chair. Although 70 years of age, he was active and had been attending daily to his duties as superintendent of the Paxton, Elsie and Essex company. Mr. Brandt was one of the foremost business men of Harleburg, Penn.

EMINENT JURIST COMING TO-MORROW

OBJECTS SOUGHT BY SIR FRED. POLLOCK

Outlines of Scheme of Imperial Organization of Which He is Leading Exponent.

Sir Frederick Pollock, the eminent English jurist, will be in Victoria to-morrow. He will be given a reception by the members of the local bar. Sir Frederick, who is making his third trip to Canada, says that the purpose of it is to obtain suggestions and opinions from Canadians on the question of imperial organization.

Sir Frederick Pollock, in the introduction to his pamphlet on the subject, says:

"We have to look for some plan which will avoid elaborate legislation and formal change in the constitution. If possible, it should be capable of the whole matter being novel and experimental of being enlarged or modified according to what is found most useful by trial. It seems that we must distinguish between the invention of any new kind of executive or compulsory power. No such power should be accepted by any nation, unless our information is wholly at fault. We must therefore be content with a council of advice which will have only persuasive authority."

"Regarding the constitution of this advisory council, Sir Frederick says that the most regular and easy way of establishing it would be in the shape of a committee of the privy council. 'Such a committee,' he continues, 'which might be called the Imperial committee, but whether committee, board or council is preferable to any other name, is marked from the first as being a dignified and important body not attached to any particular department, but concerned with the affairs of the Empire as a whole. It would not meddle with the art of war, which is already well taken in hand by the committee of Imperial defence, although it is quite possible that useful communications might pass between the two bodies. Its province would be questions involving matters of Imperial interest not confined to any one department or department, and not capable of being disposed of by the action of the colonial office or any other single department of state. For dealing with questions of information and advice a revival of the ancient functions of the King's council in an appropriate form to modern requirements would be preferable to any other innovation. * * * It must be clearly understood that no proposal is now made either to bind any colonial government beforehand to the acceptance of any decision which it has not specifically approved, or to interfere with the power and duty of the King's ministers here to take prompt and decisive action, as needed, on their own responsibility. * * *

"As to the constitution of the Imperial committee, the nucleus of it exists already in the conference of Premiers, which met in 1902, and is expected to meet again next year. The Premiers of the Dominion of the Commonwealth and of New Zealand are already privy councillors, and no good reason appears why their successors, and the future Premiers of a confederated South Africa, should not have the same rank as a matter of course. The colonial secretary would be a necessary member (though, for reasons I shall mention, I do not think he ought to be), and all the heads of the great departments would also be members of the committee, though they would not take part in its deliberations, but would be summoned to every meeting as in the case of the judicial committee the selection of the persons to be convened out of the whole number would depend upon the nature of the business on each occasion."

For example, the secretary of state for India would not be wanted to take part in considering the report of an expert committee on a question (let us say) of mail subsidies in the Pacific. But there might be other questions in which the Australian colonies and India had material common interests, and in which, therefore, India could not go without representation. Crown colonies would constantly, and for the present sufficiently be represented by the secretary of state. It is conceivable that now and then, when the business was of special importance, the viceroy might be transferred, so to speak, to the cabinet by summoning one or two select members of the Imperial committee to attend a cabinet council, but as the Imperial committee would itself include two or three leading members of the cabinet, it would not seem likely that the viceroy would need any further information. Privy councillors, having once become members of the Imperial committee, would not cease to be members of it by resigning office on a change of ministry; and it might often be desirable and profitable, in matters not leading to a cabinet decision, or of a controversial kind, for ex-ministers to be invited to give the Empire as being above parties, the benefit of their experience, and to add a new illustration to the just and dignified name of 'His Majesty's opposition.' The same observation applies to any ex-Premier of the colonies whose services may happen to be available. On the other hand, there would be nothing to prevent the occasional attendance of skilled persons not members of the Privy Council. I do not mean only or chiefly politicians; engineers, merchants, engineers, leading ship owners might all have things to say which they would rather put in a written report. Outsiders have been invited to attend the cabinet itself for special purposes. The president of the Imperial committee would naturally be the Prime Minister, or some prominent member of the government acting for the whole."

Sir Frederick Pollock further proposes the establishment of an Imperial secretariat and a permanent Imperial council in charge of a secretary who "would be in fact a permanent under-secretary directly attached to the Prime Minister, but free from the usual departmental duties."

The best living information ought to be at the service of the Imperial committee through its secretariat," continues Sir Frederick.

ALL EXPLORATION PARTIES RECALLED

J. S. DENNIS EXPECTED
IN CITY NEXT WEEK

C. P. R. Land Commissioner Will Receive Reports Concerning Vancouver Island Districts.

To-day a report was circulated to the effect that the exploring parties sent out by the C. P. R. to inspect the lands acquired by that company with the E. & N. railway had been ordered to continue their investigations for another six weeks. As this directly contradicts the announcement that the work had been abandoned for the year owing to the inclement weather a Times representative called upon W. A. Thompson and Wm. Regan, who are in charge, at the Diard hotel this morning. The latter corroborated the statement that the parties had been recalled. They could not continue their explorations to any advantage now that the rainy weather was approaching.

"Do you think the work will be continued next spring?" queried a Times reporter. Mr. Regan, in reply, explained that only a comparatively small portion of the company's holdings had been covered by the parties sent out this summer. It would not be reasonable to believe that they could have done the work thoroughly in such a short space of time, but as to the C. P. R.'s plans for next year that was a question upon which he didn't care to commit himself. The probabilities were that the undertaking having been commenced would be satisfactorily completed.

Discussing the work generally Mr. Regan pointed out that it was being taken up systematically. Four distinct parties had been out during the past few months. One had its base at Duncan, another at Nanaimo, a third at Comox and a fourth at Alberni. These had all made excellent progress. As to the results of their labors or their impressions of the country visited he did not care to express himself. The reports having first to be submitted to J. S. Dennis, C. P. R. land commissioner, who would use his own discretion respecting the issuance of statements, regarding the character of the Vancouver Island lands held by the company for publication. It was only about a week or so ago that instructions were received ordering a discontinuance of the work. This had been done, he presumed, because of the bad weather. Already the parties having been ordered to continue their work, the C. P. R. land commissioner, it was expected to return from a flying visit to Calgary and other points in the Northwest by Monday or Tuesday, the 16th and 17th inst.

CONTRACTS LET FOR NEW RAILWAY

MIDWAY AND VERNON
WILL BE COMPLETED

Okanagan Construction Company Will Carry Out the Work—Activity in the Interior.

The contracts for the completion of the Midway and Vernon railway have been awarded to the Okanagan Construction Company, which is carrying on the work.

Already work is in progress from Midway. Mr. Arthur says that work will be begun at the Vernon end also.

He was further asked whether the company had in view further extensions of the line. To this Mr. Arthur replied that he could not say at present. This was a subject upon which he might be able to give more definite information later on.

It is reported, however, that the company now controlling the line has in contemplation branches other than that of the main line which runs from Midway up the West Fork of the Kettle river, through Kelowna to Vernon. The company may, it is said, build also to Penticton, tapping further rich agricultural areas.

At Midway the line connects with the C. P. R. and the Great Northern, so that the company has competition from there in the way of accepting freight from the local line. The country which is tributary to the line is fast becoming an important one from an agricultural standpoint. As an indication of the way in which the Okanagan country is developing, W. T. Shafford, M. P. P., who was in the city yesterday, stated that the sales of lots by his company, which subdivided the Ellis estate, were this year just double what was anticipated. This land has been taken up for fruit farming nearly altogether, and his company has now a $150,000 irrigation scheme under way. This is but one instance of what is taking place in the country about Okanagan lake, so that in a few years the trade for railway lines will be assured.

The Midway and Vernon draws a Dominion bonus and also a provincial cash subsidy. The Dominion government makes a grant of $6,200 a mile for the line, and the province contributes $5,000 a mile. The road is 132 miles in length.

With the completion of this line the building of the Great Northern through to the Coast from Midway and the construction of the C. P. R. by way of Nicola Lake to Midway, which is contemplated, the Okanagan and Similkameen will have its share of railway facilities.

In connection with the Great Northern's operations along the line of the V. V. & E. it was expected that 14 miles would be opened for freight business yesterday.

Passenger business will not be accepted for a few days, until betterments to the roadbed now under way are completed. The date for the commencement of passenger trains is not set.

A considerable tonnage of merchandise and construction material has accumulated at Carleton Place, B.C., awaiting the opening of the first section of the V. V. & E. and the railway company expects to handle a constantly growing volume of traffic. Additional sections of the road are to be utilized as soon as the grade is finished and track laid to enable coast freightage now necessary to be hauled down on advanced construction work.

New York, Oct. 12.—The finding of a man's head in front of 615 East 18th street led to the discovery of a murder committed probably last night at 143 Third avenue. The head was wrapped in a white and blue shirt and the Sunday supplement of a German newspaper.

Soon after the head was found a man told the police he believed a murder had been committed at the 143 Third avenue address last night, and that the body had been cut up. Search in the house resulted in the discovery of the arms and legs of a man in a suit case and the trunk of the body was found in a closet.

SCHOONER WAS IN HAND OF MUTINEERS

Four White Men and One Negro Murdered—Four Bodies Thrown Overboard.

Wilmington, N. C., Oct. 11.—The schooner Blanche H. King, Capt. J. W. Taylor, bound from Brunswick, Ga., to Philadelphia, put into Southport today, bringing in iron three negroes, all that remained of the crew of the four-masted schooner Harry A. Berwind. Captain Russell and the mate, cook and engineer—the latter who did the hoisting work aboard the vessel—apparently had been killed in a mutiny and their bodies thrown overboard; and the body of a fourth sailor, a negro, was found lying on the deck, where he too had been killed.

The Harry A. Berwind was bound to Philadelphia from Mobile, which port she left September 23rd. She was sighted early today, thirty miles off the Cape Fear by Capt. Taylor, whose attention was attracted by the reckless manner in which the ill-fated vessel was being steered, threatening to run down his own vessel. Capt. Taylor and crew boarded the vessel and found the negroes in irons, brought the two vessels off the bar, when the other was towed in by Wilmington tugs. It has developed from the stories of the negroes that the mutiny was the result of a quarrel aboard the ship about the food for breakfast.

The King was sighted by the Berwind about fifty miles east of Frying Pan Lightship, and in a space between the two ships the mutiny broke out. The King's crew, who were in the fore part of the vessel, were attacked by the negroes, who were armed with cut-throats and pistols. The King's crew, who were in the fore part of the vessel, were attacked by the negroes, who were armed with cut-throats and pistols. #### CABLE CHESS MATCH.

Berlin Club Decides to Accept Challenge From Manhattan.

Berlin, Oct. 11.—Amidst much excitement and a series of great outcries, the members of the Berlin Chess Club, a special meeting last night, unanimously decided to accept the challenge of the Manhattan Chess Club of New York for a cable match on six boards, to take place during two days at the end of November.

VANCOUVER NOTES.

E. Turley, night watchman of the V. W. & Y. Railway Company, who was taken to hospital yesterday from a fall from a platform, is now recovering from his injuries. The fall occurred on Monday night, October 10th, when he was on duty at the station.

The marriage took place Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, 510 Cordova street east, of Mr. William Edward Drayton and Miss Mabel Reid. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Fraser. Miss A. Chambers, of New Westminster, was bridesmaid, and Mr. M. J. Chambers was best man.

The body of W. R. Cuthbertson was found by Captain Forsythe, of the tug Delta, floating out on the inlet near the Sugar Refinery, Tuesday. A steamer cord was knotted in a double loop round the waist, and to this the body was attached. It was evident that the man had been heavy, and after floating away in the water had parted from the iron, and allowed the body to rise to the surface.

Mr. Cuthbertson disappeared from Vancouver on July 1st. That afternoon, about 3 o'clock, he hired a boat at a house down by Coal harbor, and that was the last time he was seen alive. The empty boat was found that evening by a fisherman floating out in the Narrows near the fish house. A few small articles were found in the boat, but nothing to testify as to the actual fate of the man.

The Fall court, which will hold its next sitting on Thursday, November 2nd, will hear argument on a number of appeals entered against recent judgments. Special importance is also attached to the sitting in view of the expectation that judgments will be delivered in the appeals of Telford vs. British Columbia Medical Association, and Edna Wallace Hopper vs. Dunscombe. Among the appeals set down for hearing before the sitting in view of the expectation that judgments will be delivered in the appeals of Telford vs. British Columbia Medical Association, and Edna Wallace Hopper vs. Dunscombe.

GOING TO GERMANY.

King Alfonso Will Leave Madrid on November 2nd. The King will remain in Berlin from November 6th to November 12th, attending elaborate festivities, a military review and a hunt. The Premier, General Montero Rios, will probably follow. The President's visit to Madrid attracts comment, as it is indicated that questions of state will be considered by Germany. However, the King's visit to Germany was arranged long ago and is generally believed to be connected with the diplomatic projects of the Spanish royal family.

RUNAWAY STREET CAR.

Motorman Probably Fatally Injured—Five of the Passengers Hurt. New York, Oct. 11.—The brakes on a cable car of Montague street line in Brooklyn failed to operate at the top of a steep hill near the Wall street ferry to Manhattan today, and the car with 15 passengers on board ran down the grade for two blocks and into the ferry house. Frank Wall, the motorman, stuck to his post, and is believed to be fatally injured. Five other passengers were badly hurt, including two women, who were cut by flying glass.

SIR WM. MULLOCK.

The retirement of Sir William Mullock from active participation in the political life of Canada deprives the country of the services of one of her most capable and successful public men. Mr. Mullock has long been identified with Canadian affairs, and he has made a record for himself, which few others have equalled. His administration of the post office department has been very successful. No branch of the public service comes more closely home to the people than that which deals with the handling of their letters and newspapers. Every day nearly all of us, and very many of us several times daily, are brought in contact with that department. It is so much a part of our daily routine that we take its great convenience for granted, and are critical to a degree over the smallest defect. It will not be claimed for Mr. Mullock that he is entitled to the credit for this wonderful system, which indeed, has been the growth of years, but it can be truthfully said of him that he approached the somewhat commonplace work of his department with excellent judgment as a business details, and a remarkable appreciation of the part which the post office can play in cementing the people of the Empire together. His share in bringing about Imperial penny postage was most creditable, and among recent events of an Imperial character, probably none will have a more potent influence than this. Mr. Mullock is an enthusiastic advocate of a government-controlled telephone system, and it is a cause for deep regret that he has not felt himself able to perfect his plans in that regard. As the head of a great department, employing thousands of men, Mr. Mullock proved himself careful and efficient; in meeting the needs of a rapidly expanding country, he exhibited foresight and judicious liberality. In parliament he was a hard worker and bore his share in the debates with courtesy, courage and good sense. As a citizen he enjoyed the unstinted respect of friends and opponents alike. While his health compels him to seek retirement, it is to be hoped that the country may have the benefit of his wisdom and ripe experience in some other capacity, but, if not, and he must abandon all public activity, he can rest assured that he enjoys the cordial good will of the people of Canada.

A FORESTRY CONVENTION.

A public convention has been called by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to be held in Ottawa on the 10th, 11th and 12th days of January next for the discussion of matters relating to forestry. Among the many things with which the name of the Premier is identified none is of more far-reaching importance than this. The demands upon the forests of Canada are rapidly increasing. By the year 1910 nearly 1,000,000 people will be resident in the United States and Canada, and their requirements for structural timber as well as for wood pulp must be largely supplied from the Dominion. True, the Canadian forests are of vast extent. Few of us appreciate how vast they are. An immense region covered with trees of varying commercial value extends from the Atlantic shores of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, across Quebec and Northern Ontario, and thence extends in a great fan-like expanse across Western Canada, the northern limit being the delta of the Mackenzie, where large cotton woods and spruce grow within the Arctic circle, and the southern limit being the international boundary line. Of this forested area by far the greater part is wholly unexploited, but the more valuable woods are being rapidly cut away. The pine forests of the East are approaching exhaustion. In the extreme Eastern provinces even the spruce, a rapidly growing tree, is disappearing at an alarming rate. The incursions into the British Columbia forests are becoming noticeable, and it is to be remembered that when one of our great Douglas firs, spruces or cedars has been cut down the product of centuries has been utilized, and, practically speaking, can never be replaced. Nothing better illustrates the rapidity with which the timber supply of a country can be exhausted than the fact that the men, who have within the last few years been buying up timber lands on the Pacific Coast, are the same people who bought up the virgin forests of Wisconsin and Michigan, which they have now almost depleted of merchantable timber. Between thirty and forty years ago the forests of those states were regarded as of such little value that they would today be regarded as nominal. To the forty-five millions of people in the United States in those days the problem seemed to be how to get rid of the forests. The eighty millions of today are wondering where they will get the timber which they must have, because nothing has yet been invented that can take its place. Steel and Portland cement are taking the place of wood in many lines of construction, but on the other hand the pulp mills are eating up the forests at a tremendous rate. Three hundred tons of paper are used daily by the newspapers of the Pacific slope, and it is all made from wood. Notwithstanding all the changes in the character of structural material, the per capita consumption of wood and wood products is steadily increasing. Every commercial principle enforces the demand that steps shall be taken to prevent the wasteful cutting of timber and the destruction of forests by fire, as well as for the inauguration of a broad plan of reforestation.

In his letter summoning the forestry conference, Sir Wilfrid lays stress upon the necessity of forest preservation to secure a regular wood supply. A country denuded of its trees is almost sure to become a desert. Northern Africa was the granary of Rome in the days when vast forests grew upon the hills, which now are merely great sand mounds. To its mountains and its forests, the former compelling the atmosphere to give up its moisture and the latter preventing the rain from running into the sea in raging torrents, or from being evaporated too quickly, America owes its vast capacity in growing food products. The course taken by Sir Wilfrid in this matter will meet with the hearty endorsement of the people of Canada, and may be fittingly described as an act of consummate statesmanship.

THE NANAIMO STRIKE.

Now that the coal miners' strike at Nanaimo has happily become a thing of the past, the miners must be puzzled to know what they gained by it that at all compensates for the loss of money, the inconvenience, and, in many cases, hardship resulting from it. At best a strike is a clumsy weapon. It hurts the hand that wields it usually more than it injures the person at whom it is aimed, while it almost invariably causes distress and suffering among innocent and helpless people. The strike ought to be the last resort. Too often it is the first. The Nanaimo miners, who, by the way, have conducted themselves during a trying period with a degree of self-respect which commands esteem, did not seek the conditions out of which the strike originated. Neither did the Western Fuel Company. The relations between that company and its employees were in every respect satisfactory, until an irresponsible agitator threw a bone of contention in between them in the shape of a needless piece of legislation. The consequence was a loss to the miners of a sum of money, which if it had been collected from them as a tax extending over a term of years, would have caused protests almost equal to rebellion. If the nation had been involved in a great war the manner taken by the people of Nanaimo would have been trifling compared to that resulting from the recent strike. Have the sacrifices made by the miners gained them anything at all commensurate with them? Have they secured anything that might not have been gained by negotiation? These are questions which not only the people concerned in the strike, but all other wage-earners ought to ponder over—and not only wage-earners, but all classes of the community. Is it not time that some better method of settling differences between employers and employees were discovered? The very great success which has attended the efforts of Mr. Mackenzie King in the settlement of the labor troubles seems to indicate that such a method can be discovered and will be acceptable to all parties to labor questions. Of course nothing will be acceptable to the agitator, who will find his occupation gone the moment common-sense methods are adopted. But the very great majority of men have no use for the agitator. If they listen to him and are influenced by him, it is only because all men are alike in their readiness to follow leaders who profess to have their good at heart. At the present time there seems to be almost universal peace between employers and employees throughout Canada, and the time is therefore auspicious for the careful in-

TAXES AND EXPENDITURE.

The Finance Ledger says that the provincial government has collected about $250,000 taxes in that district and has not yet expended the $11,000 which the House voted for public works there. It thinks that less than 5 per cent. of the amount of taxes paid in a district is a very poor return in the way of public expenditure; and when even this small amount is not spent, it is not unreasonably to know the reason why. The Ledger is unreasonable enough to think that the fact that Dr. King, who represents the constituency as a Liberal, is not a sufficient justification for such treatment. The Ledger does not quite understand the situation, or it would not suppose that a Liberal constituency has any rights which the McBride government is under any obligation to respect. All that people who vote Liberal have any right to expect is that they shall be given the privilege of paying the taxes. If they will insist upon exhibiting their political degeneracy by voting for a man who declines to fall down and worship the Tory party, why should they hope to get back in the form of expenditures on public works any part of their tax money. Liberals must be made to realize their lost estate.

BARNARDO.

London News.
To him whose triumph is of peace we raise
No warrior statue gilt with pomp and pride.
No columned thought, revered and glorified.
Round which the city's thronged and clamorous ways
Roar as if echoes of remembered peace.
And still remembered was of them that sighed
Heartbroken for the nameless dead who died
To make that triumph, haunted all its days.
But flower-like at the thought of him shall grow
Dreams of the little waifs he pities so;
They were endangered, and he gave them
And ever round his name shall light be shed
Of children's love, and of his love who said:
"Even as ye do it to the least of these."

REMOVAL OF FACTORIES.

Preparations for Transfer of Pendray's Paint and Soap Works—Plans Being Drafted.

Preparations for the transfer of Pendray's soap and paint works from the site on James Bay flats to Sell's Point proceeds apace. All arrangements for a hasty removal are being made at the factory, and as soon as the required buildings are ready for occupation on the newly-acquired property the respective plants will be installed in the most expeditious manner. W. J. Pendray this morning expressed the hope that the actual manufacturing work would not be interfered with to any extent. Already work has been commenced at Sell's Point. The old structures which have stood there ever since the closing of Jacob Sell's immense furniture factory are being put in shape for use in connection with Mr. Pendray's business. Besides this the wharf, now incapable of holding any amount of freight, is being strengthened and put in first class repair. Architect Ridgway Wilson has been employed to draft plans for the new buildings, necessary, and immediately these are submitted and approved, tenders will be called for and the work proceeded with without delay.

This morning Mr. Pendray, in conversation with a Times reporter, stated that it was his intention to secure as much of the machinery needed in the extension of the paint and soap plants to three times their present capacity in Victoria. There was considerable, he explained, which would have to be imported, but all that could possibly be procured would be purchased from local merchants. This, he

CUBA'S TREATY

MAKING POWERS

SECRETARY ROAT IS LOOKING INTO QUESTION

Afraid Britain Will Secure Privileges Which Would Menace American Commercial Interests.

(Associated Press.)

New York, Oct. 12.—A Washington dispatch to the Tribune says that Secretary Root at the outset of his career as head of the state department has a hard nut to crack in determining the United States government's attitude towards treaty-making powers of Cuba. The question is forced to the front in connection with Anglo-Cuban commercial convention now pending in the Cuban congress, which contains clauses regarded as jeopardizing American interests.

The problem, it now appears, is complicated through the fact that Cuba already has a treaty in effect with Italy, which contains a favored nation clause, and grants practically the same privileges to Italy that Great Britain would get by the pending treaty.

The Italian treaty, which has hitherto escaped the attention of the state department, was ratified in May, 1904. It is effective for ten years, and there is no way for the United States to get around it specifically.

In commerce and navigation, colonization and immigration, Cuba's treaty with Italy specifically regards the kingdom as a most favored nation, and gives to Italy every advantage that the United States may acquire in the future. The treaty goes to the length of reiterating in ten different articles that Italy "shall enjoy the most favored nation" treatment.

Opposition to the British treaty is based on the belief that the granting of "most favored nation" treatment to such a great trading country as Great Britain would menace the United States' commercial interest in Cuba and destroy the country's chances of maintaining the preferential position to which affairs of the administration feel that the United States is entitled by reason of intervention in Cuba. Similar comprehensive advantages, it is reported, might be gained by Germany and France, and the division of commerce among the powers that possess a great merchant marine would leave only a small share to the United States.

When the Cuba-Italy treaty with its favored nations clause was ratified 17 months ago it was not regarded as injurious to American interests, but may have established a precedent which the state department overlook in determining the attitude of the government towards subsequent more recent treaties.

One of the strangest prizes offered by the French Academy of Science is $200,000 for the person who discovers a method of communication between planets.

A Serious Question.

A persistent bad cold will run into consumption unless it is relieved in time. So it is with the little daily wants of the people—they grow serious if not promptly filled. You can afford, for instance, to have that house tenantless for a little while, but when it continues tenantless month after month it becomes a serious matter. The timely "want" ad ends the trouble.

ARCHBISHOP ORTH

HOME FROM ROME

REACHED VICTORIA

YESTERDAY EVENING

Attended Eucharistic Congress in Holy City, Also Conference of Archbishops at Ottawa.

His Grace the Right Reverend Archbishop Orth returned last night from an extended visit to Europe and to eastern points on this continent.

The primary object of Archbishop Orth's visit was to make the regular appearance at Rome, which it is incumbent upon every bishop of a diocese to make at stated periods, according to the rules of the church. In the case of a bishop whose diocese is situated on the continent of America, this formal visit is requisite every ten years. On arrival in Rome, each bishop lays a full report of the ecclesiastical affairs of his diocese before the Pope, to receive the Holy Father's advice and consideration.

His Grace left British Columbia at the end of April last, travelling to Rome via New York and Antwerp, and was present at the Eucharistic Congress, which took place in Rome at the beginning of June. This visit was, of course, the first occasion on which Archbishop Orth saw the present incumbent of the Papal chair, Pius X.

At the conclusion of his official and religious duties in Rome, His Grace travelled through France, visiting Paris twice, and also London. He also paid a visit to his old home in Germany, near Cologne.

Archbishop Orth returned to this continent only in September, speaking some time in the United States. He was obliged to wait in the East for the meeting of archbishops in Ottawa, which only took place a week ago yesterday, being the first Wednesday in October. This meeting was preparatory to the Plenary Council for the whole of Canada, which will probably take place some time next year, although the exact date is not yet known.

In spite of the fatigues of his extended journey, His Grace has throughout enjoyed the best of health.

BOOKS ON THE WAY.

Information has been received by the commissioners of the public library that the books purchased in London, England, are on the way. They are expected to reach Victoria about the end of the month.

In the meantime Dr. Hand, the librarian, is getting the books in shape which are found to be sufficiently well preserved to warrant their being moved to the shelves of the new library. When these books are transferred and the new ones arrive there will be about 4,000 volumes on the shelves.

In the meantime the library will not be opened. It is expected, however, to be in shape to open early next month.

The cataloguing of the books is attended with considerable work, all of which must be done before the books are ready for the public.

In this latter connection a new system will be initiated. It is understood that the same system as that employed at the provincial library will be adopted. This is adopted by nearly all the large libraries now being recommended for its simplicity and perfection of classification.

OFFICIAL GAZETTE.

This week's Provincial Gazette will contain a notice of application to be made to the provincial legislature at its next session for a private bill to incorporate a company with power to build a line of lines of railway of any gauge for the carrying of freight or passengers from Bella Coola river, at the head of Burke channel, to a point on the coast of the Skeena river, also to construct a railway to the Bulkley river and the Bulkley country. In the notice given A. P. Lusk, solicitor for the applicant, states that he will further seek privileges for the construction of wharves, bridges and the operation of steam-floats on the Skeena river.

The franchise for the proposed railway, with a capital of $10,000, and with headquarters in the Law Chambers of this city.

REFUSED TO SMOKE.

Father Attacked His Son and Then Committed Suicide.

A sensational and extraordinary crime occurred in Dublin recently, a man Henry Warburton, aged 56, making a murderous attack upon his son, a young man, aged 23, because he refused to smoke, and afterwards committing suicide.

The two were sitting together in their house quietly talking, when the father, who was smoking, asked his son to join him. The young man declined, remarking that he never smoked.

This reply seemed to anger the father, who immediately attacked his son in a most savage manner with a penknife, stabbing him in the hand and above the eye.

After a desperate struggle the son managed to free himself, and ran from the room, whereupon the father seized a razor and cut his own throat in such a determined fashion that he died shortly afterwards.

LUMINOUS SHRIMPS.

Luminous shrimps have been discovered by the Prince of Monaco in the course of his deep-sea fishing in the Mediterranean. They live at a depth of from 1,110 to 1,900 fathoms. They are of the size of our prawns, and are studded with small phosphorescent spots. These light their way in the gloom of the deep waters.

TASTES IN DIAMONDS.

The United States takes more finished diamonds than any other country. General Herget mentions that the tastes of different nations vary considerably. For example, yellow diamonds are much in request in Russia and Turkey, whereas the demand is greatest for white diamonds with what are termed black striae (aches) in Germany, Italy and Spain.

LOCAL NEWS.

In the police court to-day an Indian, convicted of larceny, was fined $25 and $1 costs. A white man was fined $3.50 for being drunk.

It has been ascertained that those who entered the store of Baneriman & Horne on Sunday and cut open some bags and packages were children; the oldest being only six. They got in through a broken window.

The report of the Tye smelter at Ladysmith during the month of September shows the following results: The smelter ran 11 days and treated 1,019 tons of Tye ore, giving a return, after deduction of freight and refining charges, of $35,919.24.

The death occurred this morning of Ernest P. Enout at the Provincial Royal Jubilee hospital. Deceased was 27 years of age and a native of St. Heliers, Jersey Island. The remains were removed to the Henna parlors, Yates street. The funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

New Brunswick people, resident in British Columbia, will learn with regret of the death of William H. Murray, of St. John, N. B. Mr. Murray was a very prominent business man, being identified chiefly with the lumber industry. He was very successful and leaves an estate valued at a million and upwards. He was 71 years of age and unmarried.

It was expected that a meeting of the executive of the Victoria Lacrosse Club would be held this evening for the purpose of settling all business in connection with the past season. Upon the suggestion of President Bolton, however, the gathering has been postponed for a week in order to give those engaged in the preparation of a financial statement time to put matters in shape for consideration. The meeting will probably be called for next Thursday or Friday evening.

A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. Fred Fielding, Chase River, last evening, when his daughter Louisa was married to Mr. David Mottishaw, of Vancouver, says the Nanaimo Herald. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Miller. The bride was supported by Miss Maggie Fielding, while Mr. G. Mottishaw, brother of the groom, acted as best man. There was a large gathering of friends, and the bride was the recipient of many handsome gifts.

The Y. M. C. A. gymnasium is being refitted in preparation for the forthcoming winter season. This will make the handball court one of the most perfect in the city, besides improving the operation of all other apparatus. No time has been lost in completing the undertaking, it having been started early in the week and made ready for this afternoon's session of the business men's class. Judging by present indications the physical work of the Young Men's Christian Association will make splendid progress under the energetic direction of Instructor Gregory.

Hon. William Robert Wellesley Peel, B.A., grandson of the famous Sir Robert Peel, who has been making a short visit to Victoria, left for Vancouver yesterday on his return home. Mr. Peel represents South Manchester in the Imperial House of Commons, and has also done other and more strenuous service for his country, having served in South Africa during the Boer war as major of the Bedfordshire Imperial Yeomanry. Mr. Peel is a Liberal-Unionist in politics, and has been travelling through Canada and making a careful and exhaustive examination of the projects and resources of the Dominion. He has two ends in view in doing this, namely, forming an accurate estimate of Canada's value as an Imperial granary in the event of war, and in the second place, the suitability of the Dominion generally for the settlement of part of the over-crowded population of Great Britain. Both these questions are deeply engaging the attention of Old Country statesmen at the present time, and Mr. Peel has secured valuable data upon them from the most reliable official sources and from careful personal observation.
